Dedication

Donate Life Northwest dedicates this book to the families who have given the gift of life and to those whose lives have been saved and healed by donation. We thank everyone for sharing their heartfelt stories, memories and contributions to the Threads of Life Quilt. Their courage and commitment is felt by all those who view the quilt and this book.

THREADS OF LIFE QUILT
HONORING
RICHARD RAY CHURCH JR.
DONOR

This quilt square is for Richard Ray Church Jr. He was funny and loved to laugh, joke and tease. Richard was artistic and creative with metal.

He worked on cars and loved sports of all kinds. As a child he played Babe Ruth baseball, ping pong and was on the high school diving team.

As an adult, he loved to play basketball on a team or one-on-one. He coached children's basketball for many years and loved to play pool. He was an avid Raiders and Lakers fan. Win or lose, they were his teams. He also enjoyed the holidays and family get-togethers. He always found time for his family. He shined wherever he went and will be forever loved and missed.

DONOR

Evie McCord was born in Clarinda, Iowa. She moved with her family to Cozad, Nebraska where she attended elementary school and graduated from Cozad High School in 1962. The values she learned there she carried with her all of her life.

A Christian, she was baptized into St. Christopher's Episcopal Church in Cozad in 1963. Evie worked in newspapers in Nebraska before moving to Colorado in the late 1960s. She then moved to California where she began her career as a motor route carrier for the U.S. Postal Service. She was later a plant supervisor at the main post office in San Diego. In 1993 she transferred to the main Portland post office. She was with the U.S. Postal Service for 19 years and loved her job because she knew she was providing a vital public service. Evie died way too soon when she was only 63, and was a plant supervisor at the time of her death. Evie cherished her family and friends. After a hard day at work, she treasured her quiet time. For her that was settling back with good coffee in her favorite cup with a book or crossword puzzle.

She was one happy, contented lady.

HONORING
SCOTT TAYLOR GINTHER
DONOR

This square is in honor of Scott Taylor Ginther who lost his life at 45 years on August 9, 2007. He was a donor. Patient, courageous and inspirational best described him. Because of his condition, he taught us all to value the human spirit. He was brave and inspired others to wear helmets when they skied. His patience taught others to slow down and not take themselves too seriously. He was an overall great man and we all miss him. This quilt square is orange for his favorite color, with flowers for his passion.

JOEL LYNN CLARK
DONOR

Joel Lynn Clark was born on March 11, 1977 in Longview, Washington to parents John Leslie and Sharon Kay Clark. He attended school in Clatskanie, Oregon and graduated from Clatskanie High School in 1995. He was baptized and confirmed at the Faith of Lutheran Church in Clatskanie. Joel was a member of the Boy Scouts for ten years, from Tiger Cubs through Eagle Scouts, and was nominated to Order of the Arrow. He played little league baseball, football, saxophone and wrestled in Jr. High. He enjoyed fishing, hunting, hiking, 4x4ing, playing his guitar, and he loved to cook. He was employed as a production manager at HygienicProducts in Vancouver for 5 years. Joel developed Cardiomiopathy and passed away from an infection on September 15, 2007 at the age of 30. This Peace Dove was made in honor of him. He is survived by his parents, John and Sharon Clark; his grandmother, Marian Hefley; his brother, John Clark Jr.; his sister, Jill (Clark) Jacques; and his niece, Julia Clark.

CELEBRATING
RECIPIENT

Lisa McGrew-Siegfried has proven that a person can have not just one, but two hearts of gold. This quilt square is presented in honor of her and the heart transplant she received on July 24, 2005. Lisa's spirit has been an inspiration to all of those around her. After months and months of surviving an illness, she now thrives.

We are all thankful for the Providence Heart Clinic, Donate Life Northwest, and for the ultimate gift of a heart, making it possible for Lisa to still be with us. This heart square was made to represent Lisa's love of the outdoors and nature. The vines and plants are in Lisa's favorite colors of green, teal, and maroon, along with other earthy and natural tones.

THREADS OF LIFE QUILT CELEBRATING MATT KAMASZ RECIPIENT

Matt Kamasz was born May 4, 1971 in Portland, Oregon. He enjoyed an active lifestyle of cross-country running, tennis, traveling and hanging out with friends. After graduating from high school, he attended Portland Community College. His interest in law enforcement then led him to the Los Angeles Police Academy. Matt was diagnosed with idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis/scleroderma in 1998. At that time, he was a few years into his career as a police officer. His disease progressed slowly at first until 2003 when his health began declining rapidly. He married his wife, Sarah, in August 2003. Matt received transplant care at the University of California-San Francisco. He waited thirtysix days on the transplant list before receiving his new lungs in July 2005. Less than a year later, Matt was a participant in the National Transplant Games. He currently works on his physical conditioning and training to return to police work while working full-time as a Civil Technician. To date, he does not know the identity of his donor's family, but offers immense gratitude for giving him the Gift of Life. This square represents Matt's police career and his goal of getting back to work.

ANN TORGERSON
DONOR
TOM ZYP
RECIPIENT

Janice and Tom Zyp met Ann and JV Torgerson when Janice and Ann taught together in the Hillsboro school district. In 2002, Tom found out he was in need of a kidney transplant and Janice mentioned to Ann and JV that she was not eligible to be a donor. Within minutes, both Ann and JV offered to donate one of their kidneys. The decision was made that Ann would be the donor. The successful transplant took place on July 22, 2002. Ann jokingly said she had to be back to school by the last week in August. Amazingly, Ann was back and teaching part time for the first two weeks of school. Both Ann and Tom have been in good health since the transplant. At one of their weekly Friday night dinners, the two couples planned a trip to Hawaii for spring vacation. During their trip, Ann and Janice increased the median income of many of the quilt shop owners on the islands, while JV and Tom visited many of Kauai's golf courses and kept the used golf ball hunters very busy. Ann Torgerson is a life saver and a true friend. Ann and JV, we love you.

HONORING
DAVID W. CLEM
DONOR

A true patriot and hero for his country as a Navy Pilot, David Wendell Clem reached the rank of Commander before serving 22 years. In addition to making life-long Navy friends in each stop of his career, David would remodel and update every home with his family. With David being a “Jack of all Trades” we were able to do almost all of the work ourselves, from construction and welding to electrical and plumbing.

David enjoyed auto restoration and woodworking, and in his later years, he built a computer from the ground up. As a volunteer for many organizations, David was always willing to help, and he never hesitated to drop what he was doing to help out a friend. David Clem left a lasting and positive impression on everyone he met.

David always liked the Peanuts comics, especially Snoopy as the Red Baron, who shared his love of flying. Our family dachshund was even named Red Baron. This quilt square is assembled in red, white and blue to show David Clem’s patriotism.

JUDGE RODERICK MCLEAN
DONOR

Judge Rod McLean was very proud of his Scottish heritage. The patch and plaid on this quilt square is from the McLean family crest and were made in honor of his passing on September 12, 2007. Judge Rod McLean had recently started his third term in Columbia County as Justice of the Peace. He loved family camping and fishing trips or any excuse for large family gatherings.

His kids and grandkids were fond of spending the night when in town. They'd wake up to enjoy his famous biscuits and gravy, although not necessarily enjoying the 5 a.m. breakfast call served with them. Rod was loving, caring, compassionate, wise, well-respected, and devoted to his family and career. His warm personality and sense of humor left a lasting impression on all who knew and loved him.

Even though Rod McLean is no longer with us, he will always be part of us.

Charles “Doc” Scott was born in Texas on November 24, 1932. He was enthusiastic about life and was known for his “can-do” personality. He loved to help people and was an outstanding teacher. He spent four years in the Air Force with two tours of duty in Japan during the Korean War. On December 29, 1957, he married Dolores, whom he met while stationed at Great Falls, Montana. After a severe injury, he opted for college at age 28. He received his BS degree, a Masters in Animal Science, and a Ph.D. in Genetics. His first position at the University of Utah Medical School involved genetic research, teaching, and heading the birth defects lab.

He continued with research but eventually was self-employed as an environmental regulatory consultant. His interests ranged from raising mink, collecting coins and western belt buckles, aircraft history, charity work, classic Ford Mustangs, genealogy, and teaching. He was a man of outstanding character who lived out his moral and Christian values. On April 9, 2007, Charles Scott went home to be with the Lord. He was a good father to a son and two daughters, a faithful and loving husband, and a grandfather that delighted his two grandchildren. His upbeat personality, sparkling blue eyes, and loving hugs are missed everyday.

DOYLE RAY CAMBRON
DONOR

Doyle Ray Cambron never wanted special treatment because he was an amputee. He wanted to be seen as a whole person. He stood up for what he believed in and always did his best. Doyle was so much fun to be around, gifted with a real sense of humor and wit. But his sensitive side and sweetness could bring tears to your eyes. Often on weekends he would go to the store on crutches without his prosthetic. He'd often get looks from young children who would sometimes ask what happened to his leg. He'd reply, "Shark attack!" Doyle would often surprise his wife with cards, balloons and flowers.

He was always in search for that perfect holiday or special occasion greeting card. The love they shared was strong and true. They were always there for one another when times got tough. Doyle gave his wife, Lin, the best 10 years of her entire life. He will be deeply missed, and always loved by her. They are still together, even after death, because of memories and a heart overfilled with the love that they shared.

CELEBRATING
ROGER BENTZ
RECIPIENT

Roger received a life-saving lung transplant on September 5, 2001, after being diagnosed with Idiopathic Pulmonary Fibrosis. Unfortunately, Roger developed an infection and kidney failure followed by the need for heart surgery. When we found ourselves expecting a baby, everyone was surprised because this conception was nothing short of a miracle! In addition to other post-transplant complications, we were told Roger had BCell Lymphoma of the brain. We tackled cancer like we did everything and then took a break from chemotherapy to welcome our daughter Anna in September of 2004. The picture of Roger with Anna on our quilt square is of their first meeting. The transplant allowed Roger three years of extended life. While we never learned about Roger's donor, we both dreamed that it was a girl. We always had it in the back of our minds that while we were celebrating life, a family was mourning their loved one. We wanted to make sure that our donor's memory would be honored.

It is for this reason that a female angel is looking over the picture of Roger and Anna. While Anna will never know her father in the ways we had hoped, she will always know the story of how she came to be, the many stories about her father's life, and how organ donation made her life possible.

CELEBRATING
SUZANNE MICHELLE SMITH
RECIPIENT

Suzanne Michelle Smith was born on January 8, 1985. She was a beautiful baby but was born with a liver disease called biliary atresia and was missing her common bile duct. Her liver was so damaged by six weeks, she needed a liver transplant. She did, thankfully, receive a liver on January 27, 1986, at the University of Nebraska. She had many complications at first but then did very well for about four years. Suzanne then started into a chronic rejection which she fought for two years, without success, and needed another transplant. She received her second liver transplant on August 26, 1992, from her mother who was a living donor. Suzanne didn't have rejection, but she had complications with an abscess infection.

On October 26, 1992, she had exploratory surgery, and sadly, died in surgery. We are so thankful to our donor family and our transplant team, as we had Suzanne in our lives for almost seven years longer than we would have. Suzanne was a beautiful girl on the inside and the outside and was always happy. She was strong-willed, funny, kind, and compassionate, and was wise beyond her years. She loved pigs and wanted a real pig.

Suzanne's family is sure she is taking care of all the pigs in Heaven!

We will always remember, miss and love her, and look forward to the day when we will be with her again.

ROBERT EICK
DONOR

This quilt square captures the true essence of how my father, Robert Eick, liked to spend his time. He took part in many outdoor activities, from fishing and camping to feeding birds and squirrels. He enjoyed nature, beautiful scenery and regular trips to the coast. This square also lists the important roles he held in his life. He was a husband to his high school sweetheart, a father to two daughters, a grandpa to a granddaughter and grandson, and a friend to many. My father will be truly missed and forever loved. His participation as a donor, and knowing he has helped provide the gift of sight for two individuals, has provided comfort to us during this difficult time without him. We're so proud of him for improving the quality of life for others.

TERRY FERGUSON
DONOR

Terry Ferguson of Capitola, California, died November 23, 2007, while visiting family in Portland, Oregon. Terry, always a generous spirit, wanted to be an organ donor. Although his death was sudden, and unexpected and occurred away from home, his donation wishes were honored by his family. As a result, one of his corneas was successfully transplanted to a recipient in December 2007. His family hopes that his tissue and bone were used as well. This quilt square exhibits Terry's passion for fly fishing. Although he lived and worked in California, he fished rivers in southwestern Oregon for 40 years. His second home was a travel trailer parked on the banks of the Chetco River in Brookings. He enjoyed fishing for salmon and steelhead, whether he caught them or not. The friendships he made "on the river" lasted his lifetime.

SIERRA BINGHAM
RECIPIENT

Sierra was diagnosed with idiopathic dilated cardiomyopathy in May 2006 and was admitted to Stanford Hospital in Palo Alto, California in July. After a week in the hospital, she started experiencing signs of heart failure. By August 1st, Sierra hadn't eaten in 12 days and had various feeding tubes, heart monitors, and IVs.

Her family was told Sierra was not going to live much longer and it was recommended she be put on a device called the Berlin Heart. Her family wondered if they would ever see her awake again as she was scheduled for the risky surgery the next morning, August 3rd. At 1:30 am, they received a call from the hospital. To their shock, Sierra had stabilized and a heart had become available. Sierra received her new heart at 6:30 am. Her life was spared, thanks to the sacrifice of a family of a six-year-old boy named Nicholas. Today Sierra lives a happy and normal life.

She wanted to make a square that had a heart for her heart transplant and a green ribbon in recognition of organ donation. She also wanted to pay tribute to Nicholas and his family for their decision to donate during an unimaginably difficult situation.

LARRY W. MOORE
DONOR

Larry W. Moore was born into this world July 19, 1936 and taken from us September 17, 2007.

Quietly we are remembering you, in the silence of our hearts. Each thought of you, a treasure, while we are now apart. At times, we are filled with longing; your face we would love to view. We long to feel your warmth, to hear your voice and to be here with you. But God has a plan; he created you and numbered your days. May he hold you in his loving arms and surround you with his grace.

With the hope of reunion in Heaven one day, we entrust you in His care. Your life was a gift with cherished memories we all had a chance to share.

Memories of you will live forever within our hearts. May you forever be at peace.

SHANE EDWARD ASBERY
DONOR

Shane Edward Asbery was born June 10, 1977 in Rolla, Missouri and graduated from Rolla High School in 1995. In 2004, he moved to Portland, Oregon to pursue a career in music with his wife and writing partner, Maggie Brown. Along side Jonathan Kreidler, they formed the rock band My Favorite Everything. Shane was a phenomenal bassist and the main song writer for the group. After being diagnosed with cancer in 2006, Shane wrote a song called "Stare" while going through chemotherapy treatment. It features his powerful and moving vocal performance with the words: "Life is a consequence and it is given to make you stare." Shane passed away June 18, 2007 due to complications of Hodgkin's Lymphoma. Shane had just turned 30 and he and his band had just released their first album, "Wide Awake."

He went peacefully with his wife, family and friends by his side and the album he worked so hard to create playing in the background. The CD serves as a lasting tribute to his life and his legacy. We will never lose his voice and never forget how he looked when he threw his head back and laughed. He will remain forever young, forever talented and forever our Shaneybear.

EVERETT EARL WILLARD
DONOR

Earl was an active, intelligent, good-natured, and quiet person. He had a great sense of humor, and if I might add...he was good-looking! He hand-made miniature furniture, cross-stitched pictures, played a decent game of golf, collected antique toys, and was an excellent gardener. We lived in the same house for 42 years and he was a very caring husband. Earl had a strong sense of community support and was a courier for the Lions Eye Bank. This quilt square represents his beautiful blue eyes and the love he shared with his friends and family. He was the light of my life, which is what the candle symbolizes.

Earl actually cross-stitched the centerpiece of this quilt last year. He is irreplaceable. As difficult as it was to lose my husband, I was so happy to know that someone could benefit from his decision to be a donor.

GEORGE “WOODY” JOHNSON
DONOR

Woody Johnson was born September 21, 1938, in Portland, Oregon. As an eight-year-old at Kenton Grade School, Woody collected newspapers and was commended for his recycling efforts. He later attended Jefferson High School and was the youngest person hired at the U.S. Post Office, where he worked 35 years before retiring in 1992. As an advocate of recycling, he continued collecting newspapers, cardboard, office papers, aluminum cans, and scrap metal, even after retirement. And so it seemed fitting that his body also be recycled and used for the benefit of someone in need following his death.

Woody had a servant's heart and spent many hours volunteering at church events. This block remembers and honors Woody and his “Golden Heart.” The square is paper pieced, using different gold fabrics.

MICHAEL NOHRENBURG
RECIPIENT

Donation and transplantation are close to our hearts and integral parts of our lives. A donor saved Michael's life and made our life together possible. He received a kidney and pancreas transplant in August 1998. We met when LaVena was working for, and Michael was volunteering at Donate Life Northwest. LaVena was passionate about donation, having seen so many lives saved by a transplant and knowing first-hand the peace and comfort donation brings to a donor's family. Being given the opportunity to be a wife to the great love of her life has made donation even more personal. Before his transplant, Michael was praying to live long enough to see his three kids graduate from high school. Now Michael is living for so much more. He wants to continue to love, guide and celebrate the wonderful adults his children have become. He wants to spend many years living life and loving LaVena, whom he calls his Soul Partner. We have dedicated ourselves to living a life of gratitude. Everyday we celebrate Michael being a father to his kids, a loving partner to his wife, an involved community member, and a special loved one to many family and friends.

THREADS OF LIFE QUILT HONORING JAMES MARTIN COX DONOR

Jim Cox was my best friend and my husband. The star in the middle of this square is a friendship star. The hearts are for the love we shared. The four corners are Forget-MeNots, Alaska's state flower. I bought the fabric on one of our trips there. The blue represents our love of going on cruises. When Jim wrote me notes or cards, he always signed them J.C.S.S. He was my Super Star. Jim was originally from the Chicago area and moved to Oregon in 1978. We met while he was painting the Pizza Hut where I worked. We were fortunate to have 28 years together. I'm told that time flies when you are having fun, and we did have fun together. We laughed a lot. Jim had an off-the-wall sense of humor and a very deep voice. Jim was a hard worker and he repaired and refinished furniture. He built me many things, including a quilt frame from a 1930s pattern. Jim appreciated all handcrafts and loved my quilts. He was my biggest fan. Jim was always there to help me and others with any project or problem. This is why he decided to be a donor. Jim was a good, honest man, and I miss him very much.

TODD ANTHONY UDOVICKX
DONOR

Todd's square was designed as a family affair: his mother, Sara Lea, picked out the material. Bright green was Todd's favorite color. His sister, Thea Ray found the embroidered guitar. And his aunt, Micki Gutzman, did the embroidery. Todd died June 13, 2007, of kidney failure and he gave his eyes so someone else could regain sight. Todd was a musician. He played guitar, bass, keyboards, drums, and harmonica. He was the youngest of four children. Those who knew Todd referred to him as the nicest guy they knew. He was friendly, funny, clever, sensitive, generous, and always ready to help. He was quite knowledgeable in many areas and was a marvelous cook. His family misses him every day.

TIFFANY LEANN WILCOX
DONOR

Tiffany Leann Wilcox “the best Christmas present ever” was born January 24, 1980. From the time she was born, Tiffany was always on the go, never a quiet child. Growing up she spent time with her Aunt Sylvia while I was at work and learned generosity from her aunt, who was a foster parent. She also watched as I worked as a nurse in long-term care and for the elderly. Once old enough to baby sit, her summers were spent doing exactly that. Tiffany always enjoyed having children around her. She also spent time working in the kitchen of a nursing home before deciding to become a CNA. Tiffany cared as much for the elderly and disabled as she did the young. In the spring of 2002, she became a CNA. Tiffany was in a car accident on March 3, 2003 and of the other three cars involved, she was the only one injured. She suffered severe brain trauma. On March 25th, we were informed that she had suffered two major strokes and that very little brain function was left. The decision was made for Tiffany to die with dignity. Tiffany left us on March 26th at the age of 22 years. With all the family gathered together, it was decided that due to Tiffany’s caring attitude, she would want to be a donor. And we made the right decision. The day after her death, I went to her car for the first time since the accident and found her driver’s license, which had a “D” on it.

THREADS OF LIFE QUILT CELEBRATING DEBBIE RECIPIENT

On Mother's Day 2003, I sat down and wrote two notes, one to each of my daughter's cornea recipients. Approximately six months later, I received a letter from one of them, a woman named Debbie. Since then, I have been blessed to continue to correspond with Debbie. We now speak on the phone, and on November 25, 2006, we met each other for the first time. I am so grateful to have Debbie as part of my life. I know that any time I think of my daughter and need to hear a friendly voice, I can call Debbie. On bad days it is so wonderful to know that my daughter is still alive through Debbie and helping others out too. Debbie tells a wonderful story of when after her cornea transplant, she gathered her young grandchildren together so she could read to them for the first time. She sat on the couch, grandchildren around her and books in hand, and stated "Nana's going to read to you." Their initial response was "Nana, you can't read." But now she can. What an amazing story to know that my daughter's cornea gave her this wonderful gift.

HONORING
DEANNA RAE SCHINDLER-LOCK OADS
DONOR

My mother, Deanna Rae Schindler-Lock, cut out Sunbonnet Sue to make a quilt. I put her on yellow fabric with flowers because she loved the color yellow and she loved flowers. My mother had been a nurse for 35 years and felt it was important to donate any organs she could. I know she is proud that she could help two people who were facing a dark future to see again.

HONORING
NICHOLAS RAY THOMPSON
DONOR

Nicholas was born November 30, 1990. In 1998 he moved to Lebanon, Oregon with his dad, step mom and little brother. He was a happy, funny, caring and respected kid who was known for his smile and sense of humor. Nicholas excelled in sports, especially football, and his dream was to play for his favorite team, the Oregon State Beavers.

He also loved hunting, fishing, camping and being outdoors. He was on honor roll and took advanced classes in school. He was baptized Catholic and liked to volunteer to do the readings and be the alter server during mass.

Father Paul said "he was the only youngster that never had to be prodded to confession."

On December 30, 2006, a driver hit Nicholas on the side of the road. We all miss him very much.

His smile will always be the brightest star in heaven.

THREADS OF LIFE QUILT
HONORING
GLENN ORVILLE WESTBY
DONOR

Our square is a log cabin set in the woods with a fire burning and a moose standing next to a river. Our father, Glenn Westby, loved the outdoors and life itself. He lived a good life as a dental technician. He had eight children and adopted three more. Glenn lived in Alaska for several years and enjoyed fishing, hunting, and snowmobiling with his kids. He was a fun, happy man and a wonderful grandfather and great-grandfather. He moved back to his home town in Oregon in the early 90s and passed away January 10, 2007. We all miss his laughter and his smile. We love you Daddy, and miss you dearly.
